This position will be a little bit different for each person on the team. We aim to build a team with diverse skills, interests, and experiences in order to best meet all of the various needs of the program and student body. This page will help us learn a little bit more about the specific things you'll bring to the team.

Do you have a Wilderness First Aid certification? *

Yes

No

If you answered no, are you willing to get WFA certified before the trip's start?

Yes

No

Are you interested in completing a Wilderness First Responder course? We'll provide $250 to subsidize the cost (typically $500-900 for a week-long training)

Yes

No

I'm not sure

Are you interested in being the trip nurse? We provide an additional $250 stipend to the person in this position. It requires holding a WFR, EMT, or WEMT certification.

Yes

No

I'm not sure

Tell us which academic classes could be a good fit for you. Remember, these classes will be framed around the trip's theme of food and justice so the content you're teaching will be more specific than the titles listed here.

This is my jam! Let me teach it!

I could totally do this!

I could do this one with some guidance.

This would be hard for me.

In addition to holding an academic role on the trip, summer faculty fill a variety of other roles to keep the trip running smoothly. Which of the following are you interested in?

Academic and Program Lead - oversight of academic 'big picture' and staff, main field contact with home office, ultimate decision-making power

Logistics Lead - oversight of trip logistics - lodging, itinerary, community partnerships, etc

Food Lead - responsible for menu creation, shopping trips, group nutrition needs

Gear Lead - responsible for all gear organization and packing

Now we want to get to know more about who you are! These responses don't need to be very long, but please be thorough and make sure you address every part of each question.

Why do you want to work with the Field Academy? How do you feel that our values, principles, and philosophy will be valuable for you as you pursue your own goals? *

What do you feel are the most important elements of your identity, of “who you are”? This could include age, gender, ethnic background, socioeconomic status, religion or anything else that feels important to how you see yourself in relation to the world. We ask because it is important to us to bring together people with lots of different identities, and to build a program that strives towards co-creating safe space. *

A critical piece of a Field Academy expedition is facilitating connection between people of different backgrounds, identities and experiences: student to student, faculty to student, student group to community partners. Tell us about a time when you were successful at facilitating connection across difference and a time when you were challenged by it. *

What makes you passionate about working on this program specifically? *

Where are your places of growth with regards to the scope of the program this summer? Where are your places of strength? What are you psyched to learn about? *

Tell us something else about you that you haven't had the opportunity to share yet! *

It doesn't need to be relevant to the program at all! We just want to get to know you better!

You're nearly there! Just a little bit more info from you...
